EntryFob™

Your smart lock. One simple press.

KNOW YOUR REMOTE

Closed padlock: sends a lock command.

Open padlock: sends an unlock command.

Attachment loop: fits your keyring.

Check compatibility first

EntryFob works only with TTLock devices that support wireless remotes. In TTLock, select your lock and check for Remote. Ask ArdanShield to confirm the exact lock before use. It is not for Tuya, Smart Life or vehicle central locking.

Set up and test

- 1 Fit one 3V CR2032 battery (not included), following page 2.
- 2 Ask the lock administrator to open the compatible lock's Remote function in TTLock and follow its pairing prompts. The exact button sequence depends on the device; ask ArdanShield if unclear.
- 3 Keep the door open and another access method available. Test both buttons nearby, then test the working range at your doorway before relying on the remote.

Battery, use & care

Replace the battery

- 1 Gently release the rear cover at the end opposite the keyring loop using a suitable opening tool.
- 2 Replace the CR2032 coin cell, following the polarity marked in the holder. Do not guess the orientation.
- 3 Refit and press the cover securely into place. Test the remote afterwards.

Keep coin cells away from children

Keep new and used batteries out of reach of children. Do not use the remote if its cover cannot close securely.

Everyday use

Use the buttons within your tested working range. EntryFob sends a command; it does not physically open or close the door. You may still need to turn a handle or knob, or lift a handle to lock. Always check that the door is closed and secure.

Quick help

No response? Move closer, check the battery and polarity, and confirm pairing and compatibility with the administrator.

Remote option missing? Ask ArdanShield to check your exact lock.

Remote lost? Tell the administrator promptly so they can review its access using the device's available controls.

Keep dry: no water-resistance rating is stated. Test the range locally. Confirm multi-lock pairing and remote capacity for your device.
